- We have almost all our teachers coming back this year save one retirement and one resignation. Tirzah Langlais will be taking over Special Education, and several staff members came to help her move to town a few weeks ago. Samantha Phillips was a phenomenal student teacher who is stepping into third grade. The entire staff is very motivated to keep the momentum gained the last few years building community and improving student performance.
- Kindergarten teachers are making big plans for the way we transition kids into school. Kaitlyn Brockamp, who moved from fourth grade into music, will also be spending part of her day
